

BIO

Suzann Foerster.
President/CEO, Suzann Foerster Leadership Coaching

There are a few things Suzann understands far better than your average executive coach. Through careful listening and a well-honed intuition, Suzann has a knack for sensing the right moment to ask the exact-right questions. She leads her clients to experience insights, which become turning points in their self-awareness. Quickly keying in on the most important factors inhibiting a client, Suzann helps them design personalized action plans around these pivotal moments, and meets each client's need for support with compassion.

While simultaneously balancing direct (sometimes blunt) honesty with nurturing warmth, Suzann builds relationships on a foundation of trust and professional integrity. Gaining strength and confidence with every small victory, her clients soon overcome the barriers they once imagined standing between themselves and the realization of their goals. Through Suzann's guidance, leaders in business learn to embrace change, harness the power of their intentions, and grow. Though it may be her sense of humor and her special brand of joie de vivre that invite you in, your results will be what convince you to stay.

Suzann began her career as a corporate trainer but soon realized her entrepreneurial spirit needed an outlet. Building on her passion and desire to help others succeed she established her leadership coaching business in 1999.